JOIN US IN MAKING CANCER PREVENTION A PRIORITY!

Currently in Canada, only 2% of the millions of dollars spent on cancer research are devoted to primary prevention. One of Prevent Cancer Now's goals is to increase funding for primary prevention to 50%, both for research and in putting current knowledge about cancer prevention into action.

So far, Prevent Cancer Now has:

- Advocated for cancer prevention with government and other decision makers.
- Fostered a growing network of groups and individuals who share the goal of cancer prevention.
- Brought together the latest research and expertise at our 2007 National Cancer Prevention Conference in Ottawa.

Why Cancer Prevention?

Every year, nearly 70,000 Canadians die from cancer. They are our mothers, brothers, best friends, daughters, sons, grandfathers, co-workers, and neighbours. They're young and old, male and female, rich and poor – of every race colour, and creed.

The economic costs of cancer are immense. The physical and emotional costs simply cannot be counted. But here's much better news. More than half of all cancers in Canada can be prevented.

If we take bold action for prevention:

- Thousands of Canadians will live.
- Thousands more will not suffer the brutality of cancer treatment.

Our Mission

To build a Canada-wide movement to eliminate the preventable causes of cancer.

Our Goals

- To create a broadly based national movement for cancer prevention and environmental health promotion.
- To promote the use of the precautionary principle.
- To promote improved regulations and policies that protect the public's health and the health of workers exposed to carcinogens on the job.
- To eradicate environmental and workplace exposures to carcinogens and other health hazards.
- To provide the public with actions that individuals, communities, businesses, and governments can take to reduce or eliminate cancer-causing exposures.

What We Do

- Promote legislative and policy reforms with our allies.
- Run targeted campaigns.
- Conduct public education.
- Maintain a strong media presence.
- Promote member and group development and activities.
